HAS A SECRET LEASE

Under Agreement Harry Sinclair Must Soon Pay Million Dollars If He Wishes to Drill Certain Acreage,
Witness Tells Senate Committee.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Fred G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, told the Senate Committee investigating the oil scandal today that he had a secret Teapot Dome contract with Harry K. Sinclair, owner of that naval reserve.

Sinclair already has paid him $125,000, Bonfils said.

Under the contract Sinclair must soon pay $1,000,000 if he wishes to drill certain acreage in Teapot Dome.

"Some time after the Teapot Dome lease was signed an acquaintance of mine, Leo Stack, showed me a contract he had," Bonfils said. "He claimed it was a prior contract and that the Sinclair lease had been granted over his head."

"I had my attorney look over Stack's contract and he thought it legal. So I entered a contract with Stack under which we were to give him the first $50,000 and we would divide the remainder between my partner and my attorney."

The Stack contract with the Pioneer Oil Company, relieving Donohy from the first contract, was read. Under its provisions the Pioneer Oil Company was to be given privilege to drill some oil wells.

Appointment of Advisors to City Assessor Suggested

This being the year when triennial assessments of property for purposes of taxation are to be made, a citizen who is well versed in the value of real estate makes the suggestion that the whole burden of fixing values which will be the basis of tax levies for three years, should not be placed upon the city assessor.

"There is no one person in the city," said this citizen today, "who is as well posted as to really value in all parts of the city that he can fairly and justly fix the valuations of all properties. No matter how conscientious and careful he may be in his work, he will make mistakes of judgment here and there."

"It is a fact known to all taxpayers that there is inequality in assessments as they now stand on the records. Some properties are assessed too low; some too high. There ought, in justice to property owners, be an adjustment in such cases as will make the distribution of taxes more equitable."

"If the city assessor would call to his aid a number of persons from different sections of the city, who have an intimate knowledge of the value of properties in their respective

Stage Hilarious "Frolic"

The local amateur radio broadcasters indulged in a "frolic" last night out of which they apparently derived more enjoyment and pleasure than did the "Hesperians" on the program of the big broadcasting stations.

"Hello, West Penn!" "Hello, Scout!" "Hello, Jack!" "Hello, Bob!" and others served quite accurately to identify some of the participants in the hilarious pastime of the amateurs.

Lethal Gas Execution
Successful; Condemned
Dead in Three Minutes*LYOYD GEORGE
DENIES SECRET
PACT INTERVIEW

CARSON CITY, Nev., Feb. 8.—Geoyon, Chinese, died today by lethal gas—the first man to be executed in this manner. At 9:37 A. M. three guards marched with the Chinaman from the condemned row of the state penitentiary to the lethal chamber. The Chinaman walked quietly with practically no sign of nervousness. The door was closed behind him and he was bound hand and foot to a heavy metal cot. The process, all of which had been thoroughly rehearsed, required but a moment.

When the door was locked three guards spun wheels, which turned the valves. There was a hiss of the poison gas, rushing under pressure through the conduits and into the cell.

Watchers at a slight tremor of the body and then the man's head fell backward to the right side and the doctors declared he was dead.

Three minutes elapsed between the time the gas was introduced into the death chamber and the time the physicians made their preliminary announcement of death. It is believed death came even more suddenly than that.

Thirty persons watched the execution through a little window in the death chamber. Immediately after physicians said they believed Geoyon dead a current of fresh air was forced into the death chamber and later guards entered and brought out the body. Doctors, while waiting for the body to be cleared of gas, estimated that but 10 seconds elapsed between the time the valve was turned and the time Geoyon was entirely unconscious. It usually requires from 10 to 15 minutes to bring death by hanging.

The witnesses agreed that the chief sign of approaching death which they saw was a slight twitching of the body. There was no indication of pain.

Formation Across River First in 25 Years and Was Used by Many as Means of Crossing Strongly Gobs Out at Night Without Warning.

By United Press.
QUEBEC, Feb. 8.—Swept off into the darkness, down the ice-choked St. Lawrence River when a natural ice bridge went out with thunderous roar, five persons were missing early today and feared drowned. A sixth man was seen by witnesses to throw up his hands and sink in the swirling fog waters.

The bridge formed in the path of a northwest which makes daily trips between Quebec and Lévis. Many persons took advantage of the natural passage way to cross over on the ice this time for the first time in 25 years.

An undetermined number were crossing when there came a sudden crack above the rumbling of the waters and the crumbling of the ice. From both shore a few persons separated at once and drifted with increasing speed down the river.

Those trapped screamed for help and soon the lights of fire engines flickered along both banks in pursuit but the bridge was borne off into the gathering darkness with a half dozen persons aboard. At least one, witnesses said, drowned.

119 MILLION CUBIC FEET TIMBER USED PA. MINES YEARLY

Only 25 Per Cent Is Supplied Locally, 75 Per Cent From Southern States.

OREGON FIR BEING TRIED

The Pennsylvania anthracite region, considered as a single mining district, is by far the largest user of mine timber of any mining district, either coal or metal, in the United States, and the bituminous districts of Pennsylvania rank second, states Harry E. Tufft, mining engineer, Department of the Interior, in Serial 2,548, recently issued by the Bureau of Mines. The present annual consumption of mine timber by the coal mining industry of Pennsylvania is estimated at 119,000,000 cubic feet annually, the anthracite region using approximately 62,850,000 cubic feet, while the bituminous districts require about 56,150,000 cubic feet.

The average cost of round mine timber in the anthracite region in 1926, was, according to the United States Forest Service, 6.6 cents per cubic foot, and $15 per 1,000 board feet for sawed timber. The present cost has advanced to 28.5 cents per cubic foot for round timber, delivered to the mine, of which cost $7.3 per cent represents freight charges.

In the anthracite region, 20 to 25 years ago, the best grades of white and red oak, chestnut, and pitch pine timber could be obtained locally. The major part of the timber used was hardwoods. The soft woods used were principally yellow pine, the remainder being mostly hemlock and spruce. Even at that time much of the yellow pine was shipped in from the south, although most of the better timber was obtained in Pennsylvania. At present perhaps 75 per cent or more of the timber used in the anthracite region is soft woods such as loblolly pine and second growth yellow pine, which is largely shipped in from the south. The average timber now being used is much inferior to that used 20 years ago.

As an interesting sidelight on the timber situation, it is creditably reported that some anthracite operators have had trial shipments of Douglas fir brought by ships from Oregon by way of the Panama Canal, with a view to trying out the use of Douglas fir for certain places in the mine, in competition with the timbers now obtainable from the nearby southern states.

In the bituminous districts of Central and Western Pennsylvania, mine timber, particularly in the past decade, is becoming more and more difficult to obtain. Sawed lumber such as mine car plank, benches, board, stopping, and wooden rails, is now largely obtained from the southern states. Round timbers, such as props, ties, posts, and caps, are obtained partly within the state, but at distances of one to several miles from the mine.

Mine props are practically all made of various hardwoods, white, and red oak, chestnut, beech, birch, maple, cherry, locust, red gum, and other hardwoods. In the Pennsylvania bituminous mines, props are usually specified to contain 16 square inches on the small end. Both split and round props are used but the round prop is preferred, as it gives better service than the split prop. Pine and spruce mine props are mostly second growth oak, chestnut, and hemlock. In main entries and at shaft bottoms yellow long leaf pine timbers shipped in from the southern states are largely used, as well as oak, chestnut, hemlock, and other hardwoods. Steel and concrete supports are employed to a large extent in some mines for supporting main openings.

In many of the bituminous coal mines the roof is strong and the main timbers require timbering only in places. Thus, in some of the mines of the Conneleyville region, the slate roof holds well and very little timber is required in the entries.

On the basis of figures supplied by operators of bituminous mines, of Western and Central Pennsylvania, representing a combined output of approximately 37 million tons annually for the amount and costs of timber delivered to these mines, and taking the corresponding productions for the same periods, the average annual cost of the delivered timber is found to be 5.5 to 7.1 cents per ton of coal mined, for different operators, with a general average of about 6.5 cents. The corresponding consumption for the above mines is 0.25 to 0.44 cubic feet per ton mined, respectively, for different operators, with a general average of 0.36 cubic feet per ton mined.

Serial 2,546, "Mine Timber in Pennsylvania Coal Mines," may be obtained from the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C.

Railroad New York To Buenos Aires More Than Half Completed

What promises to be this continent's longest railroad is more than half completed. It will run from New York to Buenos Aires, according to dispatches from Washington, with the completion of the line from Atucha to Yildiz. Ignitia, nearly 6,700 of the contemplated 10,116 miles will be in service. Even now it is possible to go by rail all the way from New York to Guatemala.

A Washington correspondent commenting upon the future possibilities of the railroad points out that while it has been said that steamship lines are the developers of commerce, and that a ship is a nation's best salesman, railroads bring us into more intimate contact with the people of those distant territories they pass through. This has been well exemplified in our relations with Canada. There is a personal touch created through railroads that is lacking on shipboard. And, of course, the railroad is more popular.

Railroad building in the Latin

Americans counts many outstanding Americans engaged in such enterprises, notably William Wheelwright, of Newburyport, Mass., Colonel George Earle Church, who built the trans-Isthmian road, the forerunner of the Panama Canal, Henry Nelson, of San Francisco, who conquered the Andes, and many others. There is still large opportunity for Americans in developing Latin American roads, and many young men are availing themselves of it.

Says—Now Stiff Joints Must Go!

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up and Even the Creaking Ceases.

It's true—the world profession. All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it seeps through the skin and disappears as the errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk brightly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-lime is called this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Lime succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, stainless prescription that in just a few months has proven to be a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks shaken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Lime is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale is limited.

Connellsville Drug Co., Union Drug Co., have a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Was He Hitting at Her?

"Robert," said his wife, "there's an article which says that good humor makes the ideal home."

"That's all right my dear," he replied. "I know it says, too, that good dinners are the basis of good humor."

Gray Roshanara Crepe Is Shown for Spring

Worn at Southern resorts, and as a harbinger of spring in the North, this handsome lightweight tulle dress in gray Roshanara crepe is being shown.

Timely Fashion Hints of Interest to Women

Buttons and dore braids are being used with discretion on tailored costumes. Upon a smart tailor of brown drapery these braids take the place of fur.

Lacquer red is back again as a favorite color, used only in touches. It is often combined with that peculiar tone of grayish and newly named "aphrodite."

Among the draped hats shown in London which seem slowly to be ousting the universal cloche is one of satin so draped as to form in front a huge bow.

Four angles thrust themselves forward in the silhouette of a new tailor shown in Paris. The angles are relieved by fur at the throat, waist, hips and ankles.

The newest ornament for the formal gown, whether meant for afternoon or evening, is a knot of feathers on one hip. The feathers seem to be of any kind that are soft and they should be in contrasting colors.

Silver lame in exquisite shades of yellow is among the favorite evening materials at present. It is particularly effective when decorated with shoulder straps and buckles of jet and crystal or brilliants.

Shoes, the most recent of them, are not very highly decorated. Really smart Paris women incline to foot-wear which is beautifully made and of beautiful materials, but unobtrusive in color and ornamentation.

The swankiest evening cloaks are now topped by high cylinder-shaped collars of fur. This collar, usually white on a dark cloak, comes so high around the head as to hide the ears from view.

The Humorous Farmer

The summer boarder's brand of alleged humor was very tiresome, more than the old farmer had contracted for when he quoted rates. Oracles at everything pertaining to rural life were becoming monotonous. The grizzled agriculturist was about due for a comeback when the summer boarder pulled him from the edge of a patch of swampy woods.

"If I am bitten by a squirrel," asked the flamboyant one, "will I go nutty?"

"No," responded the farmer grimly. "And if you are bitten by a dog you won't creak."

COMMITTEE HOSTILE TO COAL INDUSTRY HAS PINCHOT BILL

Has Many Radical Members Who Favor Drastic Regulation of All Kinds.

ALSO HANDLES R. R. BILLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The Pinchot bill for the regulation of the anthracite coal industry, introduced in the Senate by Senator Borah after Senator George W. Pepper had declined to act as sponsor of the measure, has been referred to the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce.

The personnel of this committee, says the correspondent of the Black Diamond, is such as to indicate that coal legislation of a rather radical character may be reported. This is the committee which is to handle railroad legislation and it is known that a majority of the members of the committee are committing to legislation amending the transportation act in such ways as the repeal of the rate making provisions.

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, Democrat, is the chairman of the committee. He is the only Democrat holding a chairmanship of an important committee, his election having taken place after a deadlock of several weeks in the Senate and after the regular Republicans were unable to re-elect Senator Cummins, of Iowa. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, radical Republican leader, is a member of the committee. There are three Republicans besides LaFollette who in railroad legislation at least will vote with the Democrats in favor of radical legislation. These are Senators Gooding, of Idaho, Coughlin, of Michigan, and Howell, of Nebraska.

Commenting on the fact that the Pinchot or Borah bill had not been sent to the Committee on Education and Labor, of which he is chairman, Italian should be made a part of his January than for several months.

conservatives when it comes to coal legislation.

The conservative Republicans on the committee are: Senators Cummins, of Iowa, McLean, of Connecticut; Fernald, of Maine, Watson, of Indiana, Ekins, of Virginia, and Fess, of Ohio. The Democrats are: Senators Smith, of South Carolina; Underwood of Alabama; Pittman, of Nevada; Bruce, of Maryland; Dill, of Washington; Wheeler, of Montana, and Mayfield of Texas. Senators Smith and Underwood are regarded as conservative Democrats who will vote against the regular Republicans on many issues.

The Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce expects to devote its attention first to railroad legislation and probably will not touch coal legislation for some time. The Borah bill will furnish a starting point for the consideration of the entire subject of regulation of the coal industry.

Senator Borah said that inasmuch as the bill related to powers over interstate commerce and creates a new division of the Interstate Commerce Commission it was manifestly the duty of the Committee on Interstate Commerce to consider it.

Senator Borah said that probably other coal bills will be presented which might properly go to the Committee on Education and Labor but that quite likely such reference would not be made in view of the fact that the Interstate Commerce Committee has been assigned the duty of considering an important phase of the coal problem.

Inasmuch as Senator Oldie of Nevada, chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining, who has sought to have coal legislation referred to his committee, has failed to obtain administrative support for his bill, creating a department of mines it is probable that coal bills will not be referred to his committee even through the report of the coal commission was sent there. It has been Senator Oldie's idea that coal legislation should be made a part of his January than for several months.

bill creating a department of mines.

Big Increase in Number Cars Loaded

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended January 12 totaled 672,105 cars, a considerable gain from the total of 702,269 cars in the preceding period. Coal car loading totaled 211,008 cars in the week of January 12, as compared with only 159,471 cars in the week ended January 5. Coke loading totaled 11,753 cars, as compared with 8,108 in the preceding period.

The car shortage of only 183 January to 1923 in the eight-day period ended January 15, due to heavier movement of coal. The car surplus on January 15 was 292,921 cars, which represents a considerable drop from the 703,259 cars reported at the close of the eight-day period ended January 7.

Should Wear Only Becoming Colors

Gayer Tints Add to Attractiveness of All Women Who Care.

Women early in life, decide that certain colors are "becoming" to them. In later years they have never bothered to recollect their first impressions of themselves, even though complexions have faded and eyes that once reflected the favorite colors so radiantly are now dim and dimmed. Personal coloring changes with health and happiness with sickness and sadness, so that a shade or tint that is very becoming to you at one time may be very trying at another. Under such circumstances a readjustment of color is necessary.

But there is no good reason why the elderly woman should lose heart and resign herself to feeling drab and dowdy.

It used to be considered out of place for an elderly woman to wear anything but gray or blue. Formerly this cruel notion has been swept away with windy such old time ideas and today we love to see our mothers and grandmothers wear whatever touch of color will best bring out the beauty that was concealed under the hideous black silk bonnets of yesterday.

A good rule is that all hard cold, "unrelenting" colors be avoided by the woman past her youth.

Black always emphasizes age, and adds years to any face that isn't fairly glowing with youth. The French have a saying that "black should not be worn after a woman is thirty unless for mourning, nor again until after she is sixty, and then only if she feels she has to wear it."

When an elderly woman does wear black, all shiny, hard-finished materials must be religiously avoided, black satin has too high a flash to be becoming where soft flannel stuffs like velvet might be lovely. Black should always be relieved with a light color at the neckline.

Colors such as green, which accentuate sallowness, should be avoided. Blue and purple, in the dull, warm tones, with some yellow in them, are frequently becoming.

With iron gray hair, beige is usually good; while with clear skin and pure white hair, gray may be worn.

From youth to old age, every woman can wear white, but of course it should not be pure white which is "dead" and brilliant. But then there are many of the soft milk, cream and pink whites from which to choose.

Deep pink is usually for fresh youth, but for the woman of sixty or more there are the delicate pinks, flesh and palest wild-rose shades. Heliotrope, grape, rich plum, mulberry and mauve are usually becoming.

Youthful Party Gown of Rich Blue Taffeta

"La Jeunesse" would be an appropriate title for the party frock designed for a demure girl of sixteen which was exhibited recently in one of the New York fashion salons. It was made entirely of turquoise blue taffeta, girlishly trimmed with the ultra-stylish apron fastened of wide blue taffeta ribbon to match the frock and edged all around with two rows of narrower shirred ribbon. Two taffeta ribbon streamers tied the apron with a huge bustle bow in the back. A band of ribbon, the same kind used for the shirring on the apron, trimmed all the way around with little ribbon flowers in pastel shades, completed a charmingly youthful dance frock.

Use Metal Brocades in Simplest Fashion

This winter there is a pronounced tendency to use velvet and metal brocades in the simplest fashion. In the case of velvet the frocks are often absolutely untrimmed and rely for individuality and distinction on their clever drapery. Brocades on the other hand, are straight and slim, wide for bands adding beauty and richness. Occasionally one is made with a tulle skirt flared slightly. This flure being emphasized by a band of fur.

Cropes of various weaves are much in evidence and lend themselves to the fashioning of dinner gowns rather formal in appearance. They may also be worn in the afternoon.

All Work and No Play Makes Jack a Dull Boy

are trained to work from the cradle. The father of the old school believed that the boy is his chattel and whatever you can get out of him is so much profit. In consequence the boy leaves home at the first opportunity unless he has been treated as a human being. The main thing he requires is something of his own which he can sell and use the money as he sees fit. Fortunately the club system is spreading over the land and every boy now has a chance among his fellows. This in making a wonderful new generation of producers of wealth and happiness. Fortunately indeed is the boy who has a place to go fishing because he has also learned the joys of swimming but when it is considered that more than half of the children in America have no possible chance to learn to swim, it is high time that each community should sit up and take notice.

It is extremely gratifying to know that there is a national movement which will enable every boy and girl to learn to swim in water which is sanitary and safe.

There is many a lakeside community which is being driven to desperation by the pollution of its water and it is very important that the supply should be safeguarded. This is the work of the recently organized Water Safety Council of America, now being launched in Chicago.

Market Distinctly Stronger But Has Not Improved to The Extent Was Expected

Special to The Weekly Courier
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—By the testimony of prices paid for coke and prices asked, the Connellville coke market is in a distinctly stronger position than a week ago. By the criterion of the market carrying out the expectations or wishes of the coke operators it has not worked out as well as expected. In other words, there was hope among the operators that there would be a very decided improvement in the market, and there has been only a little improvement.

In particular, the furnaces have shown less disposition to cover for the second quarter of the year, at this time, than the operators expected. The spot furnace coke market is distinctly stiffer than a week ago, and it is much stronger than two or three weeks ago. By a week ago spot furnace coke of really standard grade was less than $4.00 and practically unobtainable, as reported in The Courier last week. Since then prices above $4.00 have been obtained, and up to $4.15 and $4.25 on fair sized tonnages, making the market now quotable at $4.00 to $4.25, while a few weeks ago with a quotable range of $3.75 to $4.00, the average settling price seemed nearer $3.75 than $4.00, and indeed some coke was going now and then at a price below $3.75, though this was of decidedly inferior quality.

The advance in the spot market was caused by floating supplies being absorbed by a few spot and prompt purchases. There is not, however, a complete balance established between production and consumption, unless the furnaces now in operation have to buy spot coke from time to time, for there are a few ovens in operation that do not have contracts, even short term contracts, to cover all their current output. These ovens have to sell from time to time and just now they are well sold up.

A week ago, as noted in The Courier report at the time, there was some inquiry for furnace coke for second quarter. Some of the operators took this early inquiry as an evidence that the coke market was going to be much stronger for second quarter, on account of the possible strikes at the union bituminous coal mines April 1 or on account of improvement in the steel and pig iron markets, or a combination of both influences. Some operators began promptly to talk about $5.00 coke, although it is doubtful whether any quotations above $4.50, on pending inquiries, were made seriously.

The effect of higher quotations on the furnaces has now been tried out and the common experience has been that when a 25-cent advance for second quarter is quoted, and an operator would think of quoting a smaller advance, the furnaces seem to lose interest. A contract has been made to July 1, but it was a contract to begin at once. The price has not been stated but is understood to have been well below $4.50, probably in the neighborhood of $4.25. In any case this contract would furnish no criterion for it involves considerable coke before April 1 and any operator would sell at a little less for delivery to April 1 than for delivery beyond that date.

Foundry coke continues to show its remarkable steadiness, there having been no quotable change in the spot market for a long time. From week to week the market may be a shade easier or stiffer, but it averages out the same thing in the long run. The market is now quotable as follows:

Spot furnace $4.00@4.25
Contract furnace $4.25@4.50
Spot foundry $5.00@5.50

The Pittsburgh district coal market has experienced no particular change in the past week. Production in the district has been slightly heavier since January 1 than in the closing weeks of the old year. There has been heavier demand in general, but the district operators claim they are not getting their share of the increased demand, that the non-union competition has grown farther and is in fact growing more or less each week through additional non-union mines reducing wages. What, if anything, will occur at the Jacksonville conference set for next Monday between the United Mine Workers and the operators of the central competitive field, is entirely in doubt, for at this writing it is not even announced whether the Pittsburgh district operators will attend. Secretary Hoover has urged them to do so and his statement to them has been given much publicity.

By-product coal for spot shipment has been a little easier in the past few days, the usual minimum of $3.00 being shaded in several instances by 10 or 15 cents. Prices above $3.00 are sometimes secured, for regular deliveries over short periods.

With the disappearance of the last of the steel works competition in the sale of pig iron, the merchant furnaces in Western Pennsylvania and the Valleys have been put in much better position, and they have promptly advanced their selling prices again $1 a ton on all grades. A little foundry iron has gone at half way between the old and the new asking price, while downstream and basic seems to be well established at the full price making the market quotable as follows:

Best iron $21.00
Basic $20.00
Foundry $20.00@21.00
These prices are for a Valley furnace, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.75.

NEW BUSINESS AND SHIPMENTS ABOUT EQUAL IN STEEL

Predictions Are that 1924 Will Be a Moderately Good Year for Pig Market Much Firmer.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Review will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The steel market situation has shown no important change in the past week. There is a fairly good volume of business reaching mills, but the incoming business barely equals the shipments and thus the mills are not accumulating any additional backlog of business. Outside of rails and tin plate the mills are not well sold up by any means.

With the new business scarcely equal to the shipments and with jobbers and manufacturing consumers replenishing stocks it is recognized that shipments are running ahead of consumption and there is no clear indication that consumption will increase materially although of course there are chances.

There is a still stronger disposition to avoid making predictions that 1924 will equal 1923 in point of steel tonnage. The tendency is to revert to the predictions of two or three months ago, that 1924 will be a moderately good year in business, but hardly as good as its predecessor.

Starting out with production of steel above the consumption the year has prospects of developments that would have an unfavorable influence upon sentiment. The recent heavy buying of steel is attributable largely to the mills having made their point of maintaining prices should mill operations decrease from the present high rate the sentimental influence would be distinctly adverse.

The pig iron market has grown much firmer and in several districts producers are lined up solidly for higher prices. In the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys $24 seems to be minimum on Bessemer and $25 on basic. The merchant furnaces in that territory have gotten into much stronger position by the recent withdrawal of all steel works competition.

Opinion is quite mixed as to whether there will be much of a continuing suspension April 1.

Continued Furnace Oven Activity Gives Output Another Upward Boost

From The Weekly Courier.

Again has the activity of furnace interest coke plants, coupled with additions to their list of ovens in blast, contributed to an increase in coke production. The merchant operators assisted in raising the regional output to a new figure for 1924, but their part was secondary to that of the furnace operators.

For the week ending last Saturday the combined output was 218,180 tons. This was a gain of 9,220 tons over the week immediately preceding. The furnace ovens supplied 5,820 and the merchant ovens 3,400 tons of the increase. The furnace gain was almost precisely the same as during the week ending January 28. In that week the merchants scored a loss of 1,420 tons so that their gain last week not only overcame the preceding week's loss but placed them about 2,000 tons ahead of their best of 1924 mark of 31,410 tons in the week ended January 19.

Since January 1 the net merchant gain has been 9,770 tons. Furnace production has gained 31,370 tons by steady week-to-week additions. The contrast in the rate of production increases emphasizes the slow expansion in the demand from merchant furnaces and the comparatively rapid expansion in demand from furnaces of the steel interests. It also explains why there has not been as great enlargement in the coke trade as the combined production of the producing interests would indicate as having taken place.

Compared with a year ago there are 2,434 fewer merchant ovens in blast as against 1,533 fewer furnace ovens. Merchant production is 16,610 tons and furnace production 3,320 tons below the corresponding week in 1923.

These comparisons further serve to show the difference between conditions now and a twelve month ago. The J. C. Frick Coke Company, which has led in the movement to swell furnace oven production, brought 470 more ovens into commission at its several plants last week, making the third successive large increase beginning with the week ended January 10. Those increases have been 555, 1,037 and 470 ovens respectively or a total addition of 2,062 furnace ovens.

The merchant additions have in the meantime totaled 30 ovens, or an aggregate gain of 2,092 ovens.

While there is somewhat better demand and more inquiries for coke there has not been any very marked change in market conditions, except that spot furnace has become distinctly stronger on a 25-cent advance. There is some inclination to hold back on account of the uncertainty as to the result of the miners' wage scale conference next week, but the general impression is that these negotiations will not result in a cessation of operations on April 1. The biggest deterrent factor at the moment is the slowest with which idle furnace stacks are being brought into production. The present strength of the pig iron market is regarded as a hopeful sign, however, and this, more than coal strike probabilities, is being given consideration.

The production of coke during the week ended Saturday, February 2, was 218,180 tons, credited to the two districts as follows: Connellville, 120,130, an increase of 8,580 tons; Lower Connellville, 98,050, an increase of 640 tons, or a total increase of 9,220 tons as compared with a total increase of 4,460 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnaces, 124,300, a gain of 5,620 tons; merchant, 93,880, a gain of 3,400 tons as compared with a gain of 5,550 tons and a loss of 1,420 tons respectively during the week ended January 24.

The active oven list was enlarged by 521 ovens, 470 at furnace and 51 at merchant plants. The former were all at Frick company plants and were as follows: Continental No. 1, 40; Iroquois No. 1, 30; Kyle, 40; Lehigh, 60; Marguerite, 25; Phillips, 10; Standard 100; Trotter, 30; Whitney, 30; Colonial No. 4, Footsdales, 60.

The merchant changes included 12 ovens in at Oliver No. 2 and 3; 76 in at Katharine; seven in at Washington No. 2 and 38 out at Washington No. 1.

The Paramount

"THE TANGO CAVALIER"—The leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre, is a picture that will please all members of the family. George Larkin, the talented screen star, returns to the silver sheet, in his latest five-reel photoplay, "The Tango Cavalier." He is seen posing as the famous exponent of the tango, and gives an exhibition of some in a splendid manner. Small wonder that the heart of Carmelita, the beautiful senorita, went out to this handsome Don, and when she found that he was in love with Doris, the wealthy ranch owner's daughter, her passion knew no bounds. She had the girl spirited away to have a clear field for herself but our hero had pledged his love for Doris, and she is right! Oh, boy! The battle of the Marne was a picnic compared to the battle he gave the bandits.

He also takes to the air then a bird on the wing. In a stirring chase in his aeroplane he overtakes a car driven by the bandits, only to see them plunge over a steep embankment.

"The Drivin' Fool" will be seen soon.

The Soisson

"GOING UP"—On view today and tomorrow at this theatre presents Douglas MacLean in the stellar role. The plot of the story concerns a young man who has to fly an airplane and can't. That is about all there is to it and that is sufficient as it affords Mr. MacLean unlimited opportunities of being continually forced from one amazingly uncomfortable situation into another both more amusing and more uncomfortable.

Like every other screen star, Mr. MacLean appears in the best advantage when his story material is adequate and "Going Up" is the best vehicle of his career, not excepting "The Hotentot" and "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave." The play is a two-time Broadway success. Originally presented as "The Aviator," by James H. Montgomery, it scored heavily on the New York stage. Later, it was set to music by Otto F. Harbach and Louis A. Hirsch and presented by Cohan & Harris as "Going Up." The musical version played for more than two years in New York and throughout the country and a year and a half in London.

Mr. MacLean as Robert Street, a young man with a distinct aversion to all things aeronautic, proves himself a skillful aviator. His capable support includes Marjorie Daw, William Cooley, Edna Murphy, Hughie Mack, John Stepping, Arthur Elmer Hull, Francis McDonald and others.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, Monte Blue and Irene Rich will be seen in "Main Street."

The Orpheum

"CAMEO KIRBY"—Featuring John Gilbert, the leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre.

The story by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, remarkable for its truthful delineation of the picturesque life of the time, has been done into a dramatic photoplay by William Fox.

Eugene Kirby, scapegrace son of a good old southern family, a professional gambler on Mississippi river boats and in the gambling halls of New Orleans and away towns, is known for his obsession of games. So marked is his weakness, that he is nicknamed "Camoo." Entering a game in which Morcan, a river shark, is crooking John Randall, a New Orleans trader, Kirby wins the latter's estate, intending to return it to him, having it from the greedy clutch of Morcan. Not realising this, Randall snuffs his life and "Camoo" is accused of murder.

The plot weaves into an intricate pattern of tragedy, comedy and love, to a climax which reveals "Camoo" in his true light. John Gilbert plays the leading part with Gertrude Olmstead opposite. A capable cast gives the memorable support.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Glen Hunter, May McAvoy and Ernest Torrence will be seen in "West of the Water Tower."

"Well, sir, after a man has suffered for eight long years from indigestion, it's a mighty fine thing to be able to sit down and enjoy a good meal without fear of distress afterwards," is the enthusiastic manner in which A. M. Swelgard, of 114 29th St., Penbrook, Pa. speaks of the benefits he has obtained from the Tanlac treatment.

"Everything I ate used to cause sourness, gas and bloating. My appetite wasn't much good but no matter how light the meal, indigestion was sure to follow, and nervousness, weakness, palpitation, short breath and backache made my condition even more distressing."

"Tanlac has done me a world of good in every way. I eat heartily, every meal and pain has left me, and I am feeling like my old self again. After getting such remarkable results as Tanlac has given me, I couldn't be too emphatic in recommending it to others."

High School Meets Latrobe In League Game Tomorrow; Need Three More Victories

Cokers Out to Top Every Remaining Game on Schedule;
In Good Condition.

BIG CROWD WILL ATTEND

HIGH SCHOOL.—The Connelleville High School has another football game scheduled for tomorrow night. At 8:15 o'clock the cokers will meet the Latrobe team in a league game.

The game will be played at the Connelleville High School. The cokers are in good condition and are looking forward to a big crowd.

The visiting aggregation is not being coached by C. H. Wines, Connelleville's coach last year, as was at first the expectation. There is no doubt in local minds but that if Wines had the team in charge it would be going far better than at present. Latrobe is near the bottom of the W. P. I. A. League. Nevertheless that does not indicate the game will be any means easy. It looks like a big night for High School and Connelleville fans, with the prospect of winning a sectional championship in the Western Pennsylvania league will be on hand in large numbers to give encouragement.

Zenith Club Wins Over Twinklers

The Zenith Club, composed mostly of members of the 1923 senior class basketball team, easily defeated the H. A. C. Twinklers in a fast and interesting game last night on the Capitan floor. The Zeniths, because of their inability to secure a floor, have been kept idle most of the season. They play the Baptist Live Wires Tuesday at the Armory.

The line-up:
Zeniths—B. H. A. C.—B. Yaw, F. Gordon, Samuel, P. Cohen, Cunningham, C. Friedman, Billings, G. Sapolsky, Travis, G. L. Cohen.
Substitutions—Klucak for Cunningham; China for Gordon, Magdovitz for B. Cohen, Levine for L. Cohen, Mort for Levine.
Field goals—Travis 3, Stillwagon, Klucak 2, Cunningham, Samuel 1, Yaw, Gordon, P. Cohen.
Goal goals—Zeniths, 9 out of 31; H. A. C., 5 out of 15.
Referees—Solomon and Fisher.

Of Interest to Fans.—Theodore Pritchard of Lakewood, No. 1, who has been in Flint, Mich. for the past month, will return home Saturday to visit his relatives for a few days. On February 15 he will leave for San Antonio, Tex., where he will join the hurling staff of the San Antonio club for spring training. Recently Pritchard was traded by the Flint club to San Antonio.

The manager of the Lion Tamers basketball team, calls attention to the fact that the Unity Fraternity and Casey Clubs are being urged to meet in a series of games, both that it is a game and the first out of the season. The manager of the Lion Tamers, claims the "championship" it would hardly be fitting for it to request a game at this early date and is first desirous of proving its worthiness of clashing with the cream of the city. When that day does come, fans are in for a real treat that none can afford to miss.

The Trinity School, are scheduled to meet the "Confluence" High School next Monday night. The game will be played at the State Armory at 8:15 o'clock. There will be no preliminary on account of the fall of the Lion Tamer Company, which will precede the game.

The Rinkydinks, composed of a group of sturdy South Connelleville warriors, will do battle against the Capitan-Glas basketball team tonight. The game, on the Capitan floor, will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Manager R. H. Stimmel of the 1923 C. H. S. Seniors, is after games with teams in the junior classification. For games write him at 407 Baldwin Ave. Ave.

The new gymnasium at Perryopolis will be opened Saturday night. Two games will be played—one between the Perry Independents and the Lion Tamers, the latter of this city, and the other between the Perry Township High School and Monacaon High School.

The Egan Five defeated the Lightening Five on the Armory floor Wednesday by a score of 23-24.

The Unity Fraternity had a full turnout of candidates for practice at the armory last night. There were 10 men in uniform and the two-hour

"What do you mean?" asked her escort. "I don't understand you."

"Why I mean," said this fair young thing, "that big man in the blue uniform with the big life-saving apparatus in front of him. Why doesn't he do his share of the work?"

"Oh, that is the umpire," answered her escort. "He isn't supposed to catch the ball."

"Well, I don't care. It isn't fair and he is much bigger and not nearly so nice looking."

workout was thoroughly enjoyed.

High School will be in line for the game tomorrow night. The team has not been scheduled since Tuesday and when the first toss-up is made Saturday the Orange and Black warriors will be on their toes.

The Lockport A. C. Juniors want to arrange with teams of the 12-14 year-old class. Write P. O. Box 54, South Connelleville.

RITOLA IS ELIGIBLE TO RUN FOR FINLAND

WILHELM RITOLA, leading American distance runner, who has decided to return to Finland and represent his native country in the 1924 Olympics, will have no difficulty in re-establishing his Finnish citizenship, it was learned upon investigation of reports that the athlete might be barred by an absence of more than ten years from the land of his birth.

Wilhelm Ritola.

From an official Finnish source it developed that there is no time limit on the citizenship of natives who leave the country. The only way it can be forfeited, it was said, is by formal application to the Finnish department of state. Ritola has made no application of this sort since coming to the United States in the latter part of 1918 and, although he has already obtained first American citizenship papers, this will not affect his eligibility to run for Finland in the Olympics.

Ritola has held the national mile and cross-country championships for the last two years, and also holds the American indoor records for three and four miles.

Explains Why Sidewalk
Stays Dry During Rain

A dry sidewalk while the air is full of driving rain is not an uncommon sight. The reason is that the surface is warm from previous heating or from sunlight which penetrates the clouds, even while they are dense enough to give forth a drizzle. In the case of concrete the heating may be also by conduction from below. In either case, or in the combination of the two causes, the surface is sufficiently warm to evaporate the moisture as fast as it falls and leave the sidewalk dry. Clouds, of course, do not shut off all sunlight. One can be badly sunburned on a cloudy day, though not when clouds are dense enough to produce a drizzle. The occurrence of a drizzle is often an indicator of clear skies above, which, during the night, have allowed a low, moist layer of air to cool below its dew point, and so to form the thin clouds from which the drizzle falls.

How to File Saws

Almost any one with a bit of mechanical ability can learn to file saws. All the equipment necessary is a set of three or four files of various sizes and degrees of fineness and a clamp to hold the blade in while the filing operation is in progress. One must learn to hold the file evenly and to draw it back and forth with even pressure, the full length of the cutting surface. It does not injure the file as the work to pull it back in contact with the cut surface, even though many careful workmen seem to think that it does and prefer to lift it each time. This set of the teeth of the saw should be carefully noticed before the work begins.

Never use a file on tools more highly tempered than the file itself, for this will ruin it. One set of files should be kept for the hard metals, such as iron and steel, and another for such soft metals as the artisan is often called to cut, like brass.

TOLD FORTUNES IN COFFEE

Magazine Printed in 1731 Told of the "Famous Mrs. Cherry," Georgia.

Coffee has been put to many various uses, according to William H. Ufford, author of "All About Coffee" (The New and Coffee Trade Journal, New York), but none stranger than the one described in an account, reprinted from an English magazine of 1811, of fortune-telling, or "divination" by coffee grounds.

The fortune-teller, or "diviner," described herself as "the famous Mrs. Cherry, the only gentleman truly learned in the occult science of teaing of coffee grounds, who has with unexampled success for some time past practiced the general satisfaction of her female visitors. Her hours are every evening at 8 o'clock at St. Peter's church, until dinner. (N. B.—The service requires more than one cup of coffee from a single gentleman, and so proportioned for a second or third person, but not to exceed that number at any one time.)

"In this case coffee represented her payment for reading the future, the charge could not be considered 'unreasonable.' Mrs. Cherry, she seems to have had been signed for her own fortune than for those of her patrons.

Not a Good Shot.
The famous G.H.'s been in a collection of nervous temperament, quick and energetic in his disposition and quite fond of high-sounding phrases.

He has his fair share of slang and many a snappy sentence has he typewritten that would make an English professor's hair (if he had any) stand on end in horror.

At times he takes his metaphors, but the other day he got the best out of yet. The boss was writing to the editor-in-chief of a large metropolitan daily commiserating him on his editorial, and telling him they were the only ones he (the boss) ever read consistently. "It was a big compliment—the boss thought—and then he thought he'd cap the climax, so to speak, and he dictated: "In my opinion your editorial hit the bullseye squarely on the nose every time!"—New York Sun.

Making the Goat Pay.
Dutchman riding in a little cart drawn by a goat was stopped at a bridge by the toll keeper.
"I got to pay toll?" said Hans.
"Yes; 5 cents to cross the bridge." After an argument he paid the toll and went on. In the afternoon he came back again. Only this time he had the goat sitting in the cart and was drawing it himself. Out came the toll keeper. "Gern, you know, you've got to pay 5 cents."
The Dutchman shook his head and, pointing to the goat, said: "Don't talk to me—ask the driver."

"CAP" STUBBS

HE'S ALWAYS ON THE GO

By EDWINA

"In the middle of the waste plot of ground next to Soto's. The murderer evidently threw it there the moment he had discharged it. He must have been wearing rubber-soled shoes, for not a soul heard him go."

Francis nodded thoughtfully. "I wonder," he said, after a slight pause, "whether it ever occurred to you to interview Miss Daisy Hyslop, the young lady who was with Biddle on the night of the murder?"

"I called upon her the day afterward," he detected answered. "She had nothing to say."

"Nothing whatever?"

"Indirectly, of course," Francis continued. "The poor girl was the guest of his death. It was she who had insisted upon his going out for a taxi cab, the man who was loitering about would probably have never got hold of him."

The detective glanced up furtively at the speaker. He seemed to reflect for a moment.

"I gathered," he said, "in conversation with the commissionaire, that Miss Hyslop was a little impatient that night. It seems, however, that she was anxious to get to a ball which was being given down in Kensington."

"There was a ball, was there?" Francis asked.

"Without a doubt," the detective replied. "It was given by a Miss Clara Biddlewell. She happens to remember trying Miss Hyslop to come on as early as possible."

They were walking along the Mall now, eastward. The detective, who seemed to have been just a hunter, had accompanied himself to Francis' destination.

"Let me see, there was nothing stolen from the young man's person, was there?" Francis asked presently.

"Apparently nothing at all, sir."

"And I gather that you have made every possible inquiry as to the young man's relations with his friends?"

"So far as one can learn, sir, they seem to have been perfectly amicable."

"Of course," Francis remarked presently, "this may have been quite a purposeless affair. The dead may have been committed by a man who was practically a lunatic, without any motive or reason whatever."

"Precisely so, sir," the detective agreed.

"But, all the same, I don't think it was."

"Neither do I, sir."

Francis smiled slightly.

"Shopland," he said, "if there is no further external evidence to be collected, I suggest that there is only one person likely to prove of assistance."

"And that one person, sir?"

"Miss Daisy Hyslop."

"The young lady whom I have already seen?"

Francis nodded.

"The young lady whom you have already seen," he assented. "At the same time, Mr. Shopland, we must remember this. If Miss Hyslop has any knowledge of the facts which are behind Mr. Biddle's murder, it is more likely to be to her interest to keep them to herself, than to give them away to the police free gratis and for nothing. Do you follow me?"

"Precisely, sir."

"That being so," Francis continued, "I am going to make a proposition to you for what it is worth. Where were you going when I met you this morning, Shopland?"

"To call upon you in Charles street, sir."

"What for?"

"I was going to ask you if you would be so kind as to call upon Miss Daisy Hyslop."

Francis smiled.

"Great minds," he murmured. "I will see the young lady this afternoon, Shopland."

The detective raised his hat. They had reached the spot where his companion turned off by the Horse Guards Parade.

"I may hope to hear from you, then, sir?"

"Within the course of a day or two, perhaps earlier," Francis promised.

CHAPTER VI

Armed with a powerful letter of introduction, Francis called on Miss Daisy Hyslop, who received him that afternoon in the sitting room of her little suite at the Mian. Her welcoming smile was pliant and a little subdued, her manner undeniably gracious. She was dressed in black, a wonderful background for her really gorgeous hair, and her deportment indicated a recent loss.

She avoided his direct questioning for a time, but his chequered bow finally loosened her tongue.

"I am afraid you will think that what I have to tell is very insignificant," she confessed. "Victor was one of those boys who always fancied themselves bored. He was bored with polo, bored with motoring, bored with the country and bored with town. Then quite suddenly during the last few weeks he seemed changed. All that he would tell me was that he had found a new interest in life. I don't know what it was but I don't think it was a nice one. He seemed to drop all his old friends, too, and go about with a new set altogether—not a nice set at all. He used to stay out all night, and he quite gave up going to dances and places where he could take me. Once or twice he came here in the afternoon, dead beat, without having been to bed at all, and before he could say half a dozen words he was asleep in my easy-chair. He used to mutter such horrible things that I had to wake him up."

"The Wall House?" he ventured.

She nodded.

"I see you have heard of it. All London, they tell me, gossip about the entertainments there."

"Are they really so wonderful?" he asked.

"I have never been to one," she replied. "As a matter of fact, I have spent scarcely any time in England since my marriage. My husband was fond of traveling."

WHY FINANCE FAVORS INCREASED FARM EXPERIMENT FACILITIES

American Bankers Association Indorses Purnell Bill Because It Believes What Is Good for Farming Is Good for the Country—Obsolete Farm Methods Doomed.

By D. H. OTIS, Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

If the agricultural colleges and experiment stations are to function effectively and give up-to-date, reliable information and aid in respect to farm problems, they must have sufficient funds to carry on adequate research and experimental work so as to discover practical ways to improve agriculture. The present Federal appropriation of only $30,000 a year to each of the experiment stations is deplorably inadequate to meet the pressing needs that are constantly coming before them.

The Purnell bill, which has been before Congress and will again be urged during the present session, provides for an increase of $15,000 in the national appropriation for each agricultural experiment station. It also provides for gradually increased appropriations until the total amount equals $85,000 annually for each institution.

The American Bankers Association, through its Administrative Committee, has placed itself squarely on record as being in favor of this measure because it believes that what is thus fundamentally good for farming is good for the country.

What Farming Requires
Farming requires skill of no mean sort. A farmer is ever facing new conditions and must adjust his activities to cope with them. The problems of the soil, of crop production, livestock breeding and feeding, and business management of the farm call for as high an order of brain power as any industry. The young man of today need not leave a farm for a career. There is abundant opportunity for the exercise of his best faculties in helping to develop a basic industry that affects the welfare of every human being.

In order to farm properly and economically, the farmer must be equipped with a high degree of technical skill. Farming by guesswork belongs to the past. No longer can he gauge his activities by the position and shape of the moon. Success demands the application of the best knowledge and experience available. New problems arise daily. New solutions must be found. Discoveries are being made that affect practical farm methods. Insect pests and plant diseases are constantly putting in their appearance and must be combated by the most effective methods. Competition makes that imperative.

Old Ways Do Not Pay
Land prices have been soaring. Following the Civil War, immense areas of fertile land were available almost for the asking. But today the most efficient land is all taken up, and the expansion of our agricultural production must come from either increased yields per acre or from farming the less efficient land. The higher the price of land the greater the overhead. What was profitable on cheap lands may be very unprofitable on high-priced land. To meet these changing conditions requires new stores of knowledge and new methods of applying knowledge.

Today many old methods of farming are inadequate and unprofitable. Time was when it may have been cheaper to let a horse or cow die rather than to go to the expense of caring for a valuable animal. Today we must discover new methods of treating diseases and saving our cows. We must also discover ways and means to prevent disease to improve our successfully grown, by studying crop rotation and the utilization of by-products, and by developing mechanical devices that save labor and increase efficiency.

Much as the experiment stations have done, research work is still in its infancy. There are still greater problems awaiting solution. We must delve deeper, we must push further into the unknown, we must devise systems of farming that are more profitable than the ones we are now using. The experiment stations must have increasing financial support to achieve these ends.

Francis looked at her for a moment before replying. She was wearing black, but scarcely the black of a woman who mourns. She was still frigidly beautiful, radiant in all the details of her toilette, of that almost negative perfection which he had learned to expect from her. She suggested to him still that same sense of aloofness from the actualities of life.

"I prefer not to believe that it is ended," he protested. "Have you so many friends that you have no room for one who has never consciously done you any harm?"

She looked at him with some faint curiosity in her immobile features.

"Harm? No! On the contrary, I suppose I ought to thank you for your evidence at the inquest."

"Some part of it was the truth," he replied.

"I suppose so," she admitted dryly. "You told it very cleverly."

He looked her in the eyes.

"My profession helped me to be a good witness," he said. "As for the gist of my evidence, that was between my conscience and myself."

"Your conscience?" she repeated. "Are there really men who possess such things?"

"I hope you will discover that for yourself some day," he answered. "Tell me your plans. Where are you living?"

"For the present with my father in Curzon street."

"With Sir Timothy Brant?" she asked.

"You know him?" she asked indifferently.

"Very slightly," Francis replied. "We talked together, some nights ago, at Soto's restaurant. I am afraid that I did not make a very favorable impression upon him. I gathered, too, that he has somewhat eccentric tastes."

"I do not see a great deal of my father," she said. "We met, a few months ago, for the first time since my marriage, and things have been a little difficult between us—just at first. He really scarcely ever puts in an appearance at Curzon street. I dare say you have heard that he makes a hobby of an amazing country house which he has down the river."

"The Wall House?" he ventured.

She nodded.

"I see you have heard of it. All London, they tell me, gossip about the entertainments there."

"Are they really so wonderful?" he asked.

"I have never been to one," she replied. "As a matter of fact, I have spent scarcely any time in England since my marriage. My husband was fond of traveling."

President Brydon, National Coal Association, Opposes Stream Pollution Measures

Declares It Will "Put Quietness on the Coal Industry," If Passed.

WILL ADD TO COAL COSTS

J. C. Brydon of Somerset, president of the National Coal Association, has filed with the House Rivers and Harbors Committee a protest against favorable action on the Rosenbloom bill, the object of which is to regulate the pollution of streams by mine drainage.

"You will recall," says Mr. Brydon, "that for several years there has been some agitation in connection with the price of coal, brought about especially by coal shortages, and you will also recall that in the 67th Congress there was enacted into law a bill creating the United States Coal Commission for the purpose of making a careful investigation of the coal industry."

"As part of the price which the ultimate consumer pays for his coal, the cost of production to the operator plays a very important part, and therefore, any increase in the cost of production is reflected in the price of coal to the ultimate consumer. The object of legislation which has been enacted in connection with the coal industry and of the introduction of labor saving devices and machinery by the coal operator has as its basic principle the idea of furnishing to the consumer of his fuel at as low a price as is consistent with the circumstances under which coal may be produced. As a part then, of the cost of coal must be considered the handling of water that is produced in the operation."

"The amount of water necessary to be handled varies very largely according to the location, conditions of surface and many other factors, and ranges from a small amount in some mines to an amount in other mines several times as much. In some cases it is the daily output of coal. Any increase in the cost of handling this water is reflected in the price of coal."

"There are very few mines in the United States that do not have either in the coal itself or the over or underlying strata sulphur or iron in some form. When water percolates through or flows over these substances and comes in contact with the air, there is produced oftentimes a small amount of free sulphuric acid, but for most part in amount of ferrous sulphate. In some instances the amount in the water is very appreciable. In others it is very slight."

"Permitting any of this water to flow into the inland streams would bring the mining industry under the scope of the Rosenbloom and Blain bills. This acidulous water not only comes from mines in active operation but from mines that have been abandoned, and it is well known by mining engineers that water from abandoned mines is more acidulous than from mines in active operation."

"With respect to those abandoned mines you should bear in mind the fact that in a great number of instances it is impossible to identify or locate the former operators, and to impose upon the owners of the surface the trouble and expense involved in treating water flowing therefrom, or in stopping the flow, would frequently work great hardship and injustice on such surface owners."

"There are at present in this country over 7,000 shipping mines. These mines employ in the neighborhood of 750,000 people. If this bill should be enacted into law it would place an additional burden that has been estimated at from 15c to 50c per ton on all of the coal produced in the United States, the higher figure being in those operations where an excessive amount of water is produced."

"If the Rosenbloom bill should be passed as it stands it certainly would put a quietus on the coal industry. "Wherever possible, as in drift mines with a favorable slope, the water is allowed to flow out by natural drainage. In other places it is removed by pumps, so located that the water can be handled by the shortest system of piping possible. In some mines there will often be as many as eight or ten different outlets for water."

"If these bills should pass as written it would mean that before that water could be turned out into the stream it would have to be neutralized. This would mean, in the case of mines with more than one outlet, either a number of plants for a single mine for the purpose of neutralizing the water or that the water would have to be conveyed to some central location and then rebanded for the purpose of treatment."

"It is estimated by an official of one of the largest anthracite-producing companies, that to make an adequate installation to handle and neutralize the water produced in their mines, which are approximately 30 in number would require a total initial investment approximately $50,000,000, and would involve an annual operating cost of approximately $15,000,000. This would necessarily have to be added to the price of coal."

"In comparison with the interference to commerce on navigable streams (assuming mine drainage means such interference, which is seriously questioned), the additional cost to the coal companies of the United States, would be all out of proportion to the benefits obtained."

diary, and I submit that to compel the coal companies to go to the additional expense of treating their water, which would result in an increased cost of coal to the consumer, would be equivalent to placing an indirect tax on all the people of the United States for the purpose of providing a few individuals with a little additional sport."

"Now, as to further effects of acidulous mine waters on the streams and rivers. This is a question that requires in my opinion, very careful thought and consideration. I briefly refer you to Water Supply Paper No. 108 of the United States Geological Survey, which shows quite conclusively that acid mine waste entering the streams and rivers in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania plays an important and beneficial part in bettering the sanitary condition of all of those waters. I refer you particularly to two quotations from this governmental report:

"The Susquehanna river could not be used in the raw state for household purposes, if no mine drainage was turned into it."

"The purifying effect of the acid mine waste will prevent it (the Susquehanna river) from becoming a nuisance and a damage to realty values."

"I feel that the question of increased cost of production to the coal operator, with a resultant increased cost of coal to the consumer, outweighs in importance any consideration that might be given to other questions in connection with the Rosenbloom bill."

"For that reason I am asking that if serious consideration is to be given by your committee either to the Blain bill or to the Rosenbloom bill, the bituminous coal mining industry, through the National Coal Association, may be notified and be given an opportunity to present witnesses qualified to furnish you with definite facts and present briefs as to the effect of the contemplated legislation upon the cost of mining coal and the price of coal to the consumer."

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salt Before Breakfast Occasionally.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much, also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jud Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jud Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—Advertisement Obvious Evidence. Editor—I say your daughter has promised to marry me and all that sort of thing. But one must be careful. I'd like to know if there is any insanity in your family? Father—Judging by what you say, there must be.

Hoover Urges Operator to Meet With Union Miners

In a letter to the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover urges that organization to participate in the joint conference with the United Mine Workers to be held at Jacksonville, Fla. February 11, to negotiate a renewal of the wage agreement.

"My advice," says Secretary Hoover, "is that your representatives should attend at this conference and together with the other representatives from the Central Field should make every proper endeavor to continue an agreement with the United Mine Workers and thus avoid suspension of coal production."

"Continuous operation is the one thing that will stop the economic depression that has been going on in this industry for years. I do not need to repeat that the soft coal industry is in very bad condition. There are more than 30 per cent too many employees. The real cure is a period of continuous operation under free competition and full movement of coal."

The main reason for the bad functioning of the industry is that we have for many years had periodic strikes and lockouts together with our shortages, each of which has resulted in coal famine, to the consumer, accompanied by outrageous prices. For periods in between we witness glut of coal sold at a loss.

The continuous smooth operation of the mines over a term of years without these interruptions would result in the elimination of producers who depend on famine prices by the ordinary process of competition. It would result in a concentration of labor in more continuous employment in the more economically worked mines of the lower cost operators more stable, the prices of coal would be lower because the surplus of mines and labor are a charge on the consumer in the end. I believe we have now overcome most of the transportation difficulties. It remains to eliminate the frequent suspensions which arise from serious friction in employment relations.

An opportunity now lies before the soft coal industry not only to protect the public interest but by the maintenance of continuous production and the building up of mutual responsibility between the employers and employees to recede that stability in the soft coal industry that has been so badly lost in the last ten years."

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY?

Don't your mother know that God Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's God Liver Oil Tablets are chock-full of vitamins and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid aged 9 gained 12 pounds in 7 months. She must ask Connelville Drug Co. and A. A. Clark, or any good druggist for McCoy's God Liver Oil Tablets—60 tablets, 60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.—Advertisement

Great Help to Him

A canvasser was selling tickets for a raffle, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to a charitable object. He went all around the village, and at last he called at the shop of one Mark Sturdy, the butcher.

He needed some persuasion, but at last the old man went so far as to ask what the prize was.

"It is a magnificent encyclopedia," replied the canvasser, "very useful indeed, and absolutely the finest work of its kind on the market."

"Oh," said old Mark. "I must have a couple of these tickets for my son, Sam. He's a great cyclist."
